

Take Your Retail Operation
to New Heights

Gain a competitive advantage—from the distribution center to the point of sale

Today's demanding retail environment forces retailers to find new ways to compete. Ever-tighter margins demand more cost-efficient and productive ways to manage the flow of inventory and information, from supplier to point of sale. Expanding consumer choice requires that you deliver an outstanding shopping experience to secure loyal customers, driving more frequent visits and a larger basket size.

Maximize your operations—shorten turnover, speed up restocks, and increase store profitability

Meeting these challenges requires an experienced partner with the know-how and alliances to meet them head-on. That's Intermec. Our broad lineup of rugged and versatile mobile computers, bar code scanners, and RFID systems enable new levels of supply chain efficiency. You'll gain improved inventory visibility, lower operating costs and reduced out-of-stocks; ensuring you have the goods your customers want, when and where they want them.

Mobilize your store, securely

Advancements in wireless networking and mobile computing technology gives you exciting new ways to provide extraordinary service and increase profitability. Taking advantage of new enhancements in video, voice and RFID lets store associates find answers, recommend products and verify inventory, all without ever leaving the customer's side. Assisted selling, mobile POS and line-busting are no longer the wave of the future; these technologies are being deployed by leading retailers right now. Management is untethered from the back office, free to help customers and associates on the floor while staying connected to the tools and information vital to their success.

The time is now. The technologies are here. Only Intermec brings together the rugged products, industry alliances and deep experience you need. Imagine the possibilities.
